President's Message

At SPMC we understand that in order to be a successful organization, we must constantly be looking ahead, making adjustments and responding to the business environment around us. In the 2001-02 fiscal year, the desire to evolve as an organization has been a motivating and determining factor of our success.

Our goals for achieving this success were built on the cornerstones of our Strategic Business Plan 1999 – 2004. Those cornerstones are our customers, our employees, financial performance and public policy and in this year's annual report we will demonstrate how we have progressed toward these corporate goals.

During the past fiscal year SPMC has played an important role in a number of significant projects. Two significant projects SPMC was involved with in 2001-02 were the Casino Regina expansion and construction of the Canada/Saskatchewan Film, Video, Production and Education Centre. Each project, in its own way, was an important stepping stone in SPMC's business transformation process.

Working with Casino Regina, for example, was a concrete example of how SPMC is achieving its goal of being an organization of choice. As you will read later in this report, Casino Regina partnered with SPMC not because it had to but because SPMC was the best choice for this project.

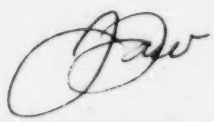
With the Canada/Saskatchewan Film, Video, Production and Education Centre, SPMC found a concrete opportunity to demonstrate its ability to achieve its goal of "constantly pursuing new services to respond to business opportunities." As the section regarding this project will demonstrate, SPMC saw an opportunity to pursue new services and it followed up on that opportunity, with success.

While we have been exploring ways to build on our expanding role as a participant in the economic development of our province, we have also continued our pursuit to excel in areas such as customer service and employee development, two more of the cornerstones identified in our Strategic Business Plan. These areas, we realize, are the foundation of any success we will have.

In the past year, SPMC has worked hard to be part of a solution for tougher financial times. We recognize that our customers, most of which are government agencies, face financial pressures and we know that we have a role to play in alleviating those pressures.

And so in 2001-02, SPMC has continued to foster more collaborative relationships with our customers. We have moved away from the role we once played — where it was incumbent on our organization to police the use of our services — to an organization that consults with our clients to determine what issues need solving and what pressures need relief.

We are more customer-focused than ever before and that has translated into things such as revised pricing policies, unbundling of services and increased choices for customers. We have re-examined our service lines and are working to transform our business. And all because of our commitment to customer service.



John Law
President

Casino Regina

In December 2001, Casino Regina proudly unveiled the final result of its $25-million expansion project, which included a spectacular 700-seat, Las Vegas-style showroom, a three-storey parkade, a new kitchen and a pedway linking the entertainment facility to the Cornwall Centre and the Delta Hotel.

SPMC is proud to have been a partner in the success of this project, particularly because it's a project the corporation earned as a result of its success on other projects such as the Legislative Rehabilitation Project and the SIAST Amalgamation, both completed in 1999-2000.

"We didn't have to use SPMC's services," says Joe van Koeverden, Casino Regina President. "We chose them because their project management bid was superior."

SPMC got involved with the expansion project very early on in the planning.

"The only property available to us belonged to CP Rail," says van Koeverden, "and we felt their asking price was too high. So we turned to SPMC's real estate division for a second opinion."

Having used SPMC to help negotiate a fair price on the property in question, Casino Regina then decided to look at the corporation for other services.

"The Casino expansion project is a perfect example of how SPMC has grown from being a property manager to a broker of economic development," says SPMC President John Law. "We are proud of the work we've been able to do with this project. It afforded us the opportunity to demonstrate just how diverse an organization we really are, as well as to show just how much we've evolved as an organization. We truly are focused on providing the best in customer satisfaction, and in bringing our vast array of abilities to the table whenever there's an opportunity."

Part of SPMC's vision is to be an organization of choice for our customers. This partnership demonstrates that we can, in fact, achieve that goal.

> "We didn't have to use SPMC's services, we chose them because their project management bid was superior."
> Joe van Koeverden, Casino Regina President

Canada/Saskatchewan Film, Video, Production and Education Centre

SPMC continued to demonstrate its commitment to a new and innovative vision when in the summer of 2001, it embarked on a mission to relife a former teachers' college into a state-of-the-art sound stage for Saskatchewan's burgeoning film industry.

"Five years ago if anyone would have said that SPMC — a property management corporation — would be involved in bringing Hollywood movies to Saskatchewan, people would have shaken their heads," says SPMC President John Law. "But we're changing the way we do business, and brokering economic development is a big part of that new direction."

In order to make the sound stage a reality, SPMC negotiated with stakeholders in the federal, provincial and municipal governments as well as members of the private sector film industry to come up with funding for the $11.5-million facility with three sound stages. These sound stages have 40-foot ceilings, and the complex boasts a recessed tank which can be used for water scenes or other special effects, such as elevator shaft scenes, and a special smoke evacuation system to accommodate fire and bomb scenes.

Val Creighton, CEO of SaskFilm, the organization running the sound stage, says SPMC exceeded her expectations.

"I've worked with government-line departments for years and I've never seen such efficiency as I have with SPMC. It's really tremendous what your organization has been able to accomplish."

"In order to make this happen, we had to proceed quickly," says SPMC Vice-President of Accommodation Services Garth Rusconi. But we had faith this project would work. We played our role as broker, and we came up with interim financing until all the partners could formally work out the details."

In the end, the federal and provincial governments each contributed $3 million to the project and industry, thanks to a seven-year property tax waiver by the City of Regina, will cover the remaining $5.5 million. It is expected that these investments will increase the volume of film and television production that occurs in Saskatchewan from its current level of $60 million per year to more than $100 million in the next few years.

As well, the expansion of this industry will result in literally thousands of spin-off jobs in areas such as hospitality and retail industries.

"The sound stage is great news for Regina, and for the province as a whole," says Rusconi. "We're very proud of what we've been able to accomplish."

Val Creighton, CEO of SaskFilm

Setting our Priorities

While large projects such as the Casino Regina expansion and construction of the new sound stage are very significant aspects of the past year, so too is the commitment our organization has put into evolving our business to meet the needs and desires of our customers.

We have made this commitment in order to address key corporate risks such as a potential loss of customer base and revenues; the need to provide value-added, competitively priced products as services to meet our customers needs; the need to attract and retain a professional workforce to deliver our services and; the need to acquire sufficient resources to invest in technology and physical infrastructure.

With this in mind, SPMC identified four strategic priorities it will pursue in the coming years. These priorities are where our corporation will focus resources and attention in order to achieve our vision of being the organization of choice.

The four strategic priorities are:

Strategic Priority 1 – Our Customers

Retain and build our customer base by focusing our service and reducing unit costs.

Strategic Priority 2 – Viable Lines of Business

Business lines achieve established financial objectives considering corporate pricing principles and guidelines. As a result of this priority, one of SPMC's objectives for the past year was to review the corporation's pricing guidelines.

Over the summer, SPMC's executive endorsed a series of six guidelines relating to how the corporation prices its products and services.

These guidelines are key to understanding the vision SPMC's Executive has for how the corporation should conduct business and key to understanding where the corporation plans to be in the future.

Strategic Priority 3 – Our People

Investments in our staff enhance their capability and support them in reaching their potential to the benefit of themselves, the corporation and our customers.

SPMC recognizes the importance of building capability within people to deliver on the business side of the corporation. As the business of SPMC transforms, so must the capacity to take on new roles and new challenges. The corporation developed a strategic employee plan that outlines nine specific areas of action over the next few years. This includes a continuation of core and leadership competencies in the human resource areas. Accomplishments include the introduction of a leadership development program for managers and supervisors; the start of a succession planning framework for long-term leadership development needs; a self-assessment of employees against the core competencies; the introduction of an internally led employee development plan; and the start of a health and wellness initiative.

In the self-assessment process, which was available to all permanent staff, a tailored assessment was offered to specifically measure the five core competencies identified as relevant to all corporate employees. This process enabled staff to identify their strengths as well as their opportunities for growth.

Although individual results were confidential, SPMC did receive a roll-up report designed to help determine the corporation's overall learning and development requirements.

A second example of SPMC emphasizing the importance of its employees has been the focus on the job evaluation process. During the 2001-02 fiscal year a significant amount of work has gone into evaluating the many diverse jobs within the corporation. In the 2002-03 fiscal year, this work will be applied to a pay equity program that will ensure all staff receive equal pay for work of equal value. Our work in this area is one way in which SPMC is working to meet its commitment to public policy as one of our corporate cornerstones.

Strategic Priority 4– Investing in Assets

Investments in technologies and infrastructure are consistent, effective and support our strategic objectives. Investing in technology is important because it is directly tied to customer satisfaction — improved technology will enhance our ability to provide a higher level of service in all our business lines.

Changes to software used by SPMC's Mail Services is one example of how we've supported this particular priority.

"The software we were using was obsolete," says Bill Matthews, director of Mail Services.

"Since we were going to be looking at replacing that system, it was also timely to be looking at unbundling our services and changing our invoicing system," Matthew says.

Unbundling services and changing the invoicing system increased SPMC's accountability to its clients and made the process much more transparent — factors that align well with our commitment to customer service and stable lines of service as identified in SPMC's strategic priorities.

"Unbundling services will mean customers will pay for what they get," Bill says. "And they'll have a better idea of how they're using our service."

Prior to a customer-wide implementation, SPMC Mail Services staff ran a test project with several clients to ensure they had a chance to incorporate feedback so that the changes could best meet customer needs.

Managing our Operational Risks

SPMC's decision to set priorities is a direct response to the corporation's realization that in order to be successful in the future we must plan ahead.

The corporation's progressive enterprise risk management program addresses the diverse types of business risks SPMC encounters on an on-going basis as a result of regular, day-to-day business. These risks include property, environmental and liability risks. SPMC's key risk management activities for these risks include insurance, risk management, investigative services, environmental management and physical security.

SPMC has also developed operational policies, guidelines and processes that reflect the corporation's commitment to human health and the environment.

As part of its responsibilities, SPMC delivers public works, real estate and other central service functions for government. Delivering these services includes some degree of inherit risk such as sudden and accidental loss of assets or interruption of business. SPMC employs two methods of dealing with these risks.

Loss prevention techniques are applied in instances where the risks can be controlled, eliminated or transferred. Loss prevention involves risk management and operational personnel working collectively to identify the risks and develop practical, cost-effective and sound business solutions. The other method SPMC uses to minimize these types of risks is insurance purchase.

SPMC also faces a challenge in that many of its facilities have deteriorated over the past decade due to the fiscal challenges facing the provincial government. As a result, SPMC has requested additional capital funding only in emergency or crisis situations.

Unfortunately, deferred maintenance over the years has resulted in an increase in building citations and deficiency reports.

To help address financial pressures, SPMC has committed to work with departments to identify replacement priorities for program facilities and options for further reducing costs. SPMC has also focused on reducing government's overall infrastructure holdings.

As part of its on-going strategy for facility replacement, SPMC has entered into partnerships with the private sector where it has made sense.

A Look at the Year Ahead

In 2001-02, SPMC did a considerable amount of groundwork for projects that will come to fruition during 2002-03.

One such project is the new 2,800 square-metre office building being built in Meadow Lake.

Through an innovative partnership between SPMC and Flying Dust First Nation, Meadow Lake will soon have a new provincial office building which will house government services such as Saskatchewan Environment, Saskatchewan Social Services and Saskatchewan Agriculture, Food and Rural Revitalization as well as SPMC's Meadow Lake staff.

The partnership has many benefits.

First of all, it will meet the future needs of our clients in Meadow Lake, and the citizens of Saskatchewan whom they serve, for many years to come.

There is also a financial benefit to this project because Flying Dust First Nations, in its role as building developer, will provide the capital funding for the building. This is a significant contribution because it relieves SPMC of the pressures of finding capital financing for a project which is much-needed in this community at a time when additional capital funds are difficult to come by.

Another benefit of the partnership is that the investment in this project is going into more than just bricks and mortar. By partnering with Flying Dust First Nations, we are building opportunities for First Nations people, the most rapidly growing segment of Saskatchewan's population, and meeting a provincial government public policy objective to create a more diversified and representative workforce.

Our partnership will see SPMC and Flying Dust work together throughout the construction phase, ensuring that both partnership groups have the opportunity to learn from one another and strengthen our working relationship. This is important because demographics are changing and we know that in the coming 20 years our labour market will rely more heavily on skilled First Nations' people. By working together now — and employing 25 per cent First Nations people — SPMC hopes to develop the skill sets we know we'll need in the people we know will need to fill those roles.

By partnering with Flying Dust First Nations, we are building opportunities for First Nations people

In Conclusion

SPMC's business transformation, which began in 1999 with the creation of our Strategic Business Plan, is now well under way.

SPMC has a clear vision in place and will continue moving forward to lower unit costs and make the organization a leader in customer service.

To achieve our goals, SPMC will work on strategic projects that will help position the corporation for future success.

These projects will focus on initiatives such as fine-tuning our E-Business to make it easier to get products to customers, pursuing new markets, safeguarding and enhancing our assets, ensuring on-going staff involvement and involving our stakeholders in our future plans.

We realize that business transformation is a challenging undertaking, but we are pleased with the progress we've made in the past year and will continue to learn from our experiences and build on our success.

Notes to the Financial Statements

March 31, 2002

(Thousands of dollars)

1. Status of the corporation

The Saskatchewan Property Management Corporation ("SPMC" or "the corporation") was established under The Crown Corporations Act, 1978, by Order-in-Council #357-86 of 1986, and continues under The Saskatchewan Property Management Corporation Act. By virtue of The Crown Corporations Act, 1993, SPMC has been designated as a provincial Treasury Board Crown corporation. Accordingly, the financial results of the corporation are included in the summary financial statements of the Province of Saskatchewan. As a provincial Crown corporation, SPMC is not subject to federal income tax, provincial income tax, federal large corporations tax or goods and services tax.

The corporation was established to provide a full range of accommodation, commercial and custodial services to government departments, agencies and Crown corporations.

2. Significant accounting policies

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles and include the following significant accounting policies:

a) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles required management to make estimates and assumptions that affect reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the year. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

b) Fund accounting

The corporation's financial position and operating activities have been divided into the following major groupings:

i) Operating fund

The Operating fund includes net assets and income generated from the operations of the corporation. The Operating fund includes the capital assets under capital lease. Revenue includes charges for accommodation and commercial services and grants received from the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund for custodial services. Expenses relate to the delivery of these services.

ii) Capital fund

The Capital fund includes the capital assets to which the corporation has legal title. Revenue consists of the annual amortized portion of contributions received from the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund for the construction, purchase or development of capital assets (Note 2(c)).

c) Revenue recognition – Capital fund

Contributions received or receivable from the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund for the construction, purchase or development of depreciable capital assets, including assets transferred from the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund, are deferred and amortized to revenue on the same basis as the related capital asset is depreciated. Contributions received from the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund for the purchase or development of non-depreciable capital assets such as land, including non-depreciable capital assets transferred from the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund, are recognized as direct increases in the net asset balance in the year of acquisition.

d) Capital assets

i) Real estate investments

Properties contributed by the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund are stated at appraised value approximating the government's depreciated historical cost at the date of transfer, determined by techniques generally accepted in the appraisal industry. Properties purchased or constructed by the corporation are stated at cost.

Properties acquired under capital lease arrangements are stated at the lesser of the present value of the minimum lease payments and the fair market value of the leased property.

The corporation capitalizes all direct costs relating to projects under construction including general, administrative and interest expenses. Demolition costs are expenses as incurred.

Depreciation on properties is recorded on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives. The estimated useful lives of buildings are between one and 55 years. The average estimated useful life approximates 20 years.

ii) Equipment

Equipment purchased by the corporation is stated at cost.

Depreciation on equipment is recorded on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the asset. The estimated useful lives range from two to 10 years.

Capital assets that can no longer be used by the corporation for their intended purpose are written down to net realizable value.

e) Inventories of parts and supplies

Inventories of parts and supplies are stated at the lower of cost as determined on a first in, first out basis and replacement cost.

f) Cash and marketable securities

The corporation's marketable securities are considered to be cash equivalents and are recorded at cost, which approximates market value.

g) Deferred charges

Deferred charges are amortized on a straight-line basis over the term of the expected benefit.

h) Deferred revenue

Deferred revenue represents funds received in advance of delivery of services.

9. Comparison of budget and actual results

The Board of Directors approves the corporation's budget. The budget disclosed in the financial statements is restated to the accrual basis for comparative purposes.

Treasury Board and the Legislative Assembly approve the level of grant funding provided to the corporation.

10. Commitments and contingencies

At March 31, 2002 the corporation has construction and capital purchase commitments of 13,776 (2001 – 8,953).

SPMC holds a prepaid lease in the amount of 2,600 on property, and the owner of the building has defaulted on the mortgage. The ultimate impact of this event on the prepaid lease is not determinable at this time, therefore no amount has been recorded to reduce its value in the financial statements. Settlement of the outstanding amount is under review.

In the normal course of business, SPMC becomes involved in various claims and legal proceedings. The final outcome of claims and legal proceedings pending at March 31, 2002 cannot be predicted with certainty. The corporation has provided for these claims in accordance with the advice received from legal counsel. The differences that may arise, between the amounts included in the corporation's accounting records and future settlements, are not expected to have a significant impact on the corporation's financial position or operating results.

11. Pension

Substantially all employees of the corporation are participants in either defined contribution or defined benefit pension plans.

Employees hired after October 1, 1977, make contributions to the Public Employees Pension Plan, a defined-contribution plan. Funding requirements are established by The Superannuation (Supplementary Provisions) Act and employee contributions are matched by the corporation.

The defined contribution pension plan expense for the year was 1,744 (2001 - 1,595).

Employees hired prior to October 1, 1977, who did not elect to transfer to the Public Employees Pension Plan by October 1, 1978, make contributions to the Public Service Superannuation Plan, a defined-benefit plan. The plan provides for pensions at retirement which are based on employees' years of service and their highest five years' earnings. The corporation does not make contributions to this plan. Pension obligations for this plan are the responsibility of the Government of Saskatchewan - General Revenue Fund.

12. Long term liability

Phase	Completion Date	Amount Advanced	Interest Rate	Annual Payment
1	January 31, 2002	2,583	6.50	24
2	Not complete	3,326	Prime + 1	n/a
3	Not complete	2,500	Prime + 1	n/a
4	Not complete	551	Prime + 1	n/a
5	Not yet started	n/a	n/a	n/a
		8,960

The majority of the long term liability relates to the financing of costs incurred under energy performance contracts. These contracts have been entered into by SPMC with a Saskatchewan Crown corporation (the Crown corporation) for the purpose of reducing future operating costs. Interest on the long term liability is at prime plus one percent (2002 yearend 4.75%) during the period in which work is being completed on each phase of the contract. Once a phase is completed, a fixed interest rate will be established and SPMC will begin making fixed monthly payments.

These energy performance contracts include guarantees by the Crown corporation to SPMC as to the level of future operating costs reductions.

13. Long term debt

Year Repayable	Annual Payment
2003	674
2004	674
2005	674
2006	674
2007	674
2008	674
2009	674

Under conditions attached to certain advances from the General Revenue Fund, the Corporation is required to pay annually into a sinking fund administered by the Saskatchewan Department of Finance. Annual payments of 674 are required, a sum equal to not less than 12¼% of the aggregate principle amount. These payments commence February 1, 2003 and are due each subsequent year on the same date up to and including February 1, 2009. At this time, the total amount of the sinking fund payments and the interest earned thereon will be applied to repay the debt in full. In addition, annual interest payments of 139 are due and payable commencing August 13, 2002 and are due every February 13th and August 13th thereafter until February 13, 2009 at the rate of 5.05% per annum.

14. Related party transactions

The corporation receives substantially all of its revenues from Saskatchewan Crown-controlled departments, agencies, corporations and public institutions. These revenues are determined primarily on the basis of recovery of costs incurred by the corporation. As a result, substantially all of the corporation's year-end accounts receivable are due from related departments, agencies, corporations and public institutions.

The corporation's financial statements include expenses such as rents, vehicle licenses, electrical and natural gas, telecommunication and data line (network) purchases, and employee benefit costs that result from routine operating transactions conducted at agreed upon rates with various related Saskatchewan Crown-controlled departments, agencies, corporations and public institutions.

The account balances resulting from purchases with related parties are included in the statement of financial position and are settled in normal trade terms. These transactions and amounts outstanding at year-end are as follows:

	2002	2001
Statement of Financial Position
Other assets	1,849	1,904
Capital lease obligations	7,767	8,131
Accounts payable	3,009	3,304
Statement of Revenue, Expenses and Net Assets
Lease	1,425	1,643
Property management	14,096	12,123
Interest - capital lease	1,215	1,267
General operations	14,555	4,098

Other amounts payable to related parties and the terms of settlement are disclosed separately in these financial statements.

15. Financial instruments

	2002	2001
Capital lease obligations
Carrying amount	43,596	45,522
Fair value	55,028	56,616

The fair value of the corporation's capital lease obligations is determined using year-end market rates. The carrying value of long term debt and long term liabilities approximate fair value as the interest rates are consistent with market rates at yearend. The carrying value of all other financial instruments including cash and marketable securities, accounts receivable and accounts payable approximates fair value as a result of the short period to maturity.

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will fail to discharge an obligation and cause the other party to incur a financial loss. SPMC is not exposed to significant credit risk. The majority of the corporation's accounts receivable are owing from Saskatchewan Crown-controlled departments, agencies, corporations and public institutions.

16. Transfer of SaskGeomatics

Order-in-Council #730 of 1999 created the Saskatchewan Land Information Services Corporation, now called Information Services Corporation of Saskatchewan (ISC), a related party. ISC assumed responsibility for the SaskGeomatics program operated by SPMC. The assets and liabilities of the program were transferred to ISC effective January 1, 2000. SPMC has received full settlement for the transferred assets and liabilities, which has been reflected in the prior year financial statements.

17. Comparative figures

Certain comparative figures have been restated to conform to the current year's financial statement presentation.
